The regularity of Mehlin perfection

scientifically and musically perfect.

The Mehlin the only Piano with a perfect scale-

THE old violin makers achieved a degree of perfection that their successors have tried in vain to imitate. To the masters of the Cremona a perfect instrument was the rule-today it is unattainable.

It is this regularity of perfection that characterizes the Mehlin Piano. The secret of which is the happy combination of genius, musical talent and science in the several generations of the Mehlin family.

The result is manifest in the Mehlin Piano itself. Each instrument possessing a distinct individuality, yet as regularly perfect as the product of the old violin makers

The new models are now on exhibition here and you are invited to examine them
